2.1 The parties agree to the appointment of the Mediator on the terms of this Agreement.

2.2 The parties acknowledge that the Mediator is independent and neutral, and does not give legal advice.

2.3 The parties also understand that the role of the Mediator is to facilitate settlement of the dispute by negotiation and agreement where it is possible, and that the Mediator will not adjudicate the dispute.

2.4 Save in the case of gross error or misconduct, the parties agree that they will respect the neutrality of the Mediator and any professional body to which the Mediator may belong, and not bring any claim, demands or proceedings against the Mediator.

2.5 Further, the parties agree and acknowledge that the Mediator shall not be liable for any alleged or actual loss or damage arising out of the appointment of the mediator or the conduct of the mediation, whether in contract or tort, and agree that they will not bring any claim, demands or proceedings against the Mediator.

2.7 The Mediator undertakes to comply with all relevant professional standards in respect of mediators, and at all times to have suitable and sufficient professional indemnity cover in place.

6 Procedures

6.1 The parties may be represented if they wish, but legal representation is not a requirement. Where a party is not legally represented, such party is advised to obtain independent legal advice before, during and after the mediation and prior to finalising any agreement reached pursuant to the mediation.

6.2 No other person shall attend the mediation without the consent of the parties and the Mediator.

6.3 It is acknowledged that the Mediator does not offer legal advice or act as a legal advisor for any of the parties nor will they analyse or protect any party's legal position or rights.

6.4 The parties may agree and prepare a mediation brief providing the information set out in Appendix 1. Each party may also prepare a confidential brief to the Mediator which will not be disclosed to the other party.

6.5 While it is recognised that mediation is a voluntary process and that the Mediator will not, and cannot, compel the parties to settle, nor even to continue the mediation, the parties agree to participate in good faith with the aim of achieving settlement.

6.6 The parties agree that they will have present at the mediation such people as are authorised to agree settlement terms, or ensure that they themselves have such authority.

6.7 The parties agree that any settlement reached in the mediation will not be legally binding until written and signed.

6.8 There shall be no recording or stenographic record of the mediation.

6.9 The parties or the Mediator may end the mediation at anytime without giving a reason.

7 Confidentiality

7.1 The parties recognise that the mediation is for the purpose of attempting to achieve a negotiated settlement and as such all information provided during the mediation is without prejudice and will be inadmissible in any litigation or arbitration of the dispute.

7.2 Evidence which is otherwise admissible shall not be rendered inadmissible as a result of its use in the mediation.

7.3 The parties will not subpoena or otherwise require the Mediator, or any employee of the Mediator, or any other person attending the mediation under the auspices of the Mediator, to testify or produce records, notes or any other information or material whatsoever in any future or continuing proceedings.

7.4 Every person involved in the mediation will keep confidential and not use for any collateral or ulterior purpose the fact that the mediation is to take place or has taken place, other than to inform a court dealing with any litigation relating to the dispute of that fact, save as otherwise may be required by statute or statutory instrument.

7.5 All documents, statements, information and other material produced prior to or during the course of the mediation, save to the extent that these documents have been disclosed already and are in the domain of the litigation, whether in writing or orally, shall be held in confidence by the parties and shall be used solely for the purposes of the mediation save as otherwise may be required by statute or statutory instrument.

7.6 At the termination of the mediation all such material shall be returned to the originating party or forthwith destroyed at their option.

8 Human Rights

8.1 The parties agree and acknowledge that the referral of this dispute to mediation does not affect the rights that may exist under Article 6 of the European Convention on Human Rights, and that if the dispute is not settled by mediation, the parties right to a fair trial remain unaffected.

9 Law and Jurisdiction

9.1 This agreement shall be governed by, construed and take effect in accordance with English Law.

9.2 The Courts of England and Wales shall have exclusive jurisdiction to settle any claim or dispute which may arise out of or in connection with the mediation.

APPENDIX 1

Mediation Brief

An individual or an agreed mediation brief will be helpful and is usually expected by the Mediator. It should contain the following information:

1. An outline of the facts giving rise to the disputes;
2. The issues to be mediated;
3. Factual submissions in relation to issues;
4. Expert reports in support of a party's position;
5. The suggested manner as to how the dispute should be resolved;
6. A bundle of the key documents, pleadings and orders;
7. Any case law, regulations, etc. relied upon.

Parties may also prepare a confidential brief to the mediator which will not be disclosed to the other party. If you send a confidential brief, please clearly mark it as confidential.

Mediation Day

The mediation will probably start with a short presentation by each side of its case to the Mediator and the other party.

Each party should be prepared to make a brief oral statement explaining their perspective.

During the mediation the Mediator will probably speak to the parties separately in order to improve the Mediator's understanding of each party's views and to facilitate the Mediator in expressing each party's viewpoint to the other side.

The Mediator then shuttles from one room to the other, exploring the avenues for settlement.

Information given to the Mediator during such private talks will be treated by the Mediator as being confidential unless the Mediator is specifically authorised by that party to disclose it.

If the parties are able to reach a solution, then a document is drawn up and signed by both parties.
